[Em]peror–People Ties Sharply Change In Postwar Japan

By HISASHI UNO

[Le]onard Mosley, in his best selling 1967 bio[graph]y "Hirohito, Emperor of Japan," said one good [thing] in referring to His Majesty's public renunciation [of hi]s own divinity. "To lose face in Japan is to lose [every]thing," he wrote, "but to lose everything is not [neces]sarily to lose face."

[On] the first New Year's Day after the end of the [Paci]fic War (1941-1945), the Emperor did humbly [...]nd" himself as the American GI's termed it at [the] time. He sort of "lost everything," but instead [grad]ually and steadily began winning far greater [popu]larity than he had gained as a god-king.

[Ge]n. Douglas MacArthur, who as C-in-C of the Allied Powers once felt it extremely embarrassing to have a divine monarch in the same country, gave him the best chosen words of high praise. The Emperor took the initiative "in the democratization of his people," he said.

Harry E. Wildes, formerly a member of Gen. MacArthur's staff in Tokyo, recounted that, in January 1946, about 90.1 percent of the nation favored the maintanence of the Emperor system in Japan. He also reported the figure had risen to 90.3 percent in 1951.

In one of the latest public opinion polls, disclosed this month, only 7.4 percent demanded the system be abolished. One surprising or shocking aspect, however, was that the rate was abnormally high in the younger generations. Those calling for its abolition included 15.2 percent in the age bracket ranging from 15 to 19, another high 13.9 percent in the 20-24 group and 10.2 percent among those up to 29.

Mostly, they are postwar children who not only had little knowledge of the war but could hardly sense what responsibility the Emperor right in his prime at the age of 40, intended to take for Pearl Harbor in December 1941. Nor could they imagine how the Japanese people had to accept his Imperial Rescript in which he declared he is human.

The war's outcome was the first defeat to alien

STRENGTH FOR THE BRIDGE A story of J.C.'s By JESSIE L. BEATTIE

Nisei Warns Of Fraser River Pollution

[VA]NCOUVER. — A dark fu[ture] was predicted for B.C.'s fish[ing] industry recently by a Nisei [unio]n leader who has just resign[ed h]is post.

[Ja]ck Suzuki warned that [pollu]tion of B.C. waters and en[croac]hment by foreign fishing [fleet]s threaten the industry.

[T]he Fraser River could be [kill]ed in less than 10 years as [one] of the world's greatest sal[mon] streams," Suzuki said, [chie]fly because of domestic pol[lutio]n near its mouth.

[He] was interviewed at the [unio]n's 24th annual convention [in th]e Fishermen's Hall, 138 East [Cord]ova.

[Su]zuki is to go back fishing to [help] his second son to earn funds [for] a university education. He [will] retain his union member[ship].

[Su]zuki said pollution has [stop]ped the movement of salmon [thro]ugh the North Arm of the [Fras]er River and now the main [Sout]h Arm is threatened.

"Most of it comes from new housing in Richmond, where I was born," he said.

He pointed out that tidal conditions are such that sewage and other effluent is held up in the river for as long as 10 hours in every 24.

"This goes on all the way to Port Mann," he added. "It is just like it was poured into a huge bowl."

Suzuki said two-thirds of B.C.'s salmon fishery originates in the Fraser River. He added that indiscriminate logging along B.C. river areas is endangering salmon runs by destroying the normal runoff.

Suzuki called for Canadian representation to the United Nations to take over control of fishing on the high seas.

He wants high-seas net fishing prohibited because, salmon spawned in B.C. rivers are being taken by fishermen of other countries.

DAVIS' PROPOSAL

Fisheries Minister Jack Davis said in a speech opening the UFAWU convention that he is proposing the UN regulate high seas fishing and that the continental shelf be adopted as a country's protected area.

But Suzuki pointed out that Davis did not specify prohibition of net fishing.

He said Russian and Japanese vessels have been seen in Hecate Strait between the Queen Charlotte Island and the mainland.

He was also critical of U.S. fishermen taking Fraser-bound salmon off Point Roberts when there is a closure against B.C. fishermen.

W. R. Hourston, the Pacific area director for the fisheries department was asked by a number of fishermen about this issue.

He replied that if regulations were passed against U.S. fishermen taking Fraser River salmon, the U.S. would likely pass regulations stopping B.C. fishermen from taking Washington State-bound coho in the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

[...] Die In Japan [Ho]tspring Hotel [Du]ring Storm Fire

[K]ORIYAMA, Japan. — Fire [whic]h broke out during a snow [stor]m and was whipped by strong [wind]s razed a hot springs resort [com]plex recently in one of Ja[pan']s worst fires since World [War] II.

[O]fficers searching the ruins [of t]he four-storey Bandai Koku[sai] Kanko Hotel and its adjoin[ing] buildings about 126 miles [nort]heast of Tokyo said they had [foun]d 30 bodies. They continued [the] hunt.

[Th]e fire started at the three[-stor]ed "Paradise" entertainment [hall] adjacent to the 4-storey Ko[kusa]i Kanko Hotel at about 1:15 [a.m.] Some 370 persons were stay[ing] at the hotel when the fire [brok]e out and a number of guests [jump]ed out of the windows to [the] ground in an attempt to [escap]e the fire.

[Th]e "Paradise" entertainment [hall,] equipped with a spacious [...] room, a movie house and [othe]r entertainment facilities, [was] one of the major attractions [of th]is famed resort spot.

[Du]e to the heavy snow, the [fire] fighting work was greatly [hamp]ered.

Judicial Inquiry To Probe Allegations Nisei Judge Assaulted Policewoman

TORONTO.—The Ontario Government will proceed with a judicial inquiry into the behavior of Judge Lucien Kurata, rejecting his demands that allegations that he improperly assaulted a policewoman be tried in a court of law.

Attorney-General Arthur Wishart refused to comment on the case, but sources close to his department indicated that the Government will have no alternative but proceed with a judicial inquiry. The Attorney-General is in Ottawa attending the federal-provincial constitutional conference.

"The Provincial Courts Act provides for an inquiry into the behavior of judges, and the Government must follow the recommendations of that inquiry," one source in the Attorney-General's Department said.

Mr. Wishart said he will make a full statement on the Kurata case when he returns to the Legislature.

Meanwhile, Judge Kurata, 46, who has been assigned to his office at the old City Hall for the past 2½ months, demanded that allegations against him be tried in a criminal court.

The allegations against the $19,000-a-year judge have been the subject of a closed investigation since last December by Ontario's Judicial Council, which oversees the conduct of provincial judges.

The Judicial Council, headed by Chief Justice G. A. Gale, recommended that public inquiry be conducted to consider the allegations against Judge Kurata.

The rotund judge, who was reeve of Swansea until just before it disappeared in a reshuffling of Metro municipality boundaries two years ago, said he had been informed that the Attorney-General has already decided on a public inquiry and has appointed a commissioner and commission counsel.

Arthur Maloney, Judge Kurata's lawyer, said he had received no communication from Mr. Wishart as to what action he was going to take on the Judicial Council's recommendation.

Mr. Maloney said that it was just a rumor that a public inquiry has already been ordered by the Attorney-General. He added that he hoped that Mr. Wishart will give Judge Kurata the opportunity to defend himself against the allegations in a court of law.

The complaint against Judge Kurata was made to the Attorney-General last November by Metro Policewoman Marlene Watson.

"I have been falsely accused of an improper assault upon a policewoman on Nov. 15, 1958, in my office at the old City Hall," the judge said in a statement.

"I have denied the allegation since it was first made against me, and I strongly urge that I be given the opportunity of every citizen to have this allegation tried by a court of law.

"She also implies an improper attempt on my part to interfere with the administration of justice—an allegation I have also insistently denied and again a matter that should be disposed of in a court of law."

Judge Kurata said he has al[so] been accused of trying to com-

Sansei Girl Tops City Music Festival

TORONTO. — Christine Mori of Willowdale, this week scored the highest marks to date of the 1969 Greater Toronto Kiwanis Music Festival, earning 90 with a piano performance that won first place in the solo class finals for 17-year-olds and under.

Nearly 30,000 young performers have been entered in the 26th annual musical competition.

The two-week festival will be completed Feb. 22.

U.S. Issei Story Ready For Publication

LOS ANGELES. — The selection of the publishing firm of William Morrow & Co., of New York as the publisher of Bill Hosokawa's forthcoming book on the Japanese Americans, "American with Japanese Faces," has been announced by Shig Wakamatsu of Chicago, chairman of the Japanese American Research Project.

Tentative publishing schedule has been set for September, 1969, the Pacific Citizen reported in its issue dated Feb. 7.

Wakamatsu revealed that the search for a suitable publisher began in early 1968, when JACL retained the services of literary agent John Hawkins of Paul R. Reynolds, Inc. of New York, and that two other well-known publishing firms — W. W. Norton & Company of New York and Little, Brown & Company of Boston — displayed keen interest in Hosokawa's subject matter and tendered firm bids for publishing rights.

"William Morrow & Company's offer was unusually strong and attractive," stated Wakamatsu.

"Usually publishers would request a chance to see the manuscript, but when Morrow's executive editor, Howard Cady learned that the author was Bill Hosokawa, he immediately placed a 'sight unseen' bid that topped the offers of all others. We were looking for indication in the publisher who would do the strongest job for promoting Bill's book. Mr. Cady's enthusiasm, having a basis in personal knowledge of the author's ability as well as the subject matter, was a determining factor."

Anti-aging Hormone Found In Japan

OSAKA. — The Ono Pharmaceutical Company of Osaka has successfully developed a process for chemical synthesis of "prostaglandin,' a hormone known to prevent human organs from growing old, for the first time in the world, it was announced here recently.

Under the process, the hormone is synthesized with acetylene, acrelein, vinyl acetate, and capronic acid, it is said. Animal and clinical tests have so far proved the hormone particularly effective in curing diseases of circulatory organs, such as high blood pressure, arterial thrombosis, and arterial sclerosis, the maker claims.

The company said after collecting further experimental data, an application for permit to manufacture and sell the synthetic hormone would be filed with the Welfare Ministry early next year.

Japanese Skier Is 2nd Non-Canadian To Win Slalom & Adams Memorial

By IAN MACDONALD

MAGOG, Que.—Eiichi Inomata has a word for the Yamata ski people today. The company's skis work wonders on a solid ice base.

Mind well, under the talented direction of someone such as the 25-year-old Inomata, any number of skis might respond brilliantly. But since the best of three Japanese skiers currently on a North American tour of major races is officially a ski tester for the company which sponsored the trip, then his performances are significant.

Inomata's 44 second descent of the 57-gate course on Hill 45 at nearby Mont Orford not only gave the National 'B' team member the slalom title recently but also gave him the Adams Memorial combined championship as well. When jury members and coaches agreed that a sensible second run would be impossible to set, the slalom became a one-run event and those few who managed to get through the first course scored in the combined.

Inomata's popular win was a victory for the older type in a way. Second place finisher in both the slalom and the combined was another 25-year-old, Arthur Bourbeau. Art is a Phys-Ed instructor who only started skiing at the age of 20 and has been somewhat bitter over the fact that the various team officials have overlooked him because of his age. He and Inomata showed the youngsters on this day.

Inomata, who was 12th in the downhill, becomes the second non-Canadian to win the championship in 17 years of competition. Austria's Franz Tristscher won the title in 1960.

Japan Wrestler Conquers B.C.

By DAVE EMPEY

VANCOUVER. — Five were adept enough to hold judo black belts. All were strong and quick and experienced. And after 64 tries ony a kid from Delbrook named Jim Miller managed to take a chunk out of their hide.

The best of Japan's high school wrestlers finished their three-week invasion of Canada recently out at UBC, an invasion that ended the same way it began—impressively.

For posterity, the Japanese kids thumbed the B.C. prep all-star 8-0. Only 157-pound Miller and Oak Bay's Taras Hryb were strong enough to compete with the invaders.

Over the long run, then, of eight different matches, the Japanese dominated to the tune of a 63-1 won-lost record. That solo blot came at the hands of Miller, who struck a blow for Canadian muscle by out-pointing Masaharu Tanimura in an earlier fight.

Miller may have been all there was, but Centennial's Bill Mitchell, head of the B.C. High School Wrestling Association, appeared rather undismayed. "We knew when we invited them," says Mitchell, "that the Japanese skill level was higher. They are probably the best high school wrestlers in the world."

What's more, Mitchell thinks things will be drastically reversed when the B.C. all-star head for Japan this summer to return the visit. At that time, he explains, they'll be meeting ordinary high school teams, not the select group that came here.

The whole bit is part of a "cultural exchange" that includes live-ins (billetting at different homes for each match), and school-ins (the wrestlers have been going to class with their billets) and has apparently proven very successful.

Following the ritual, Yutakayama became Toshiyori (senior official Shimanishiki of the Japan Sumo Association.

Brundage Would Ban Flag Raising For 1972 Olympics

MUNICH, Germany, — Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee (IOC), said recently he will try to ban victory flag raisings and commercial exploitation from the 1972 Olympics at Munich and Sapporo, Japan.

There to inspect Olympic sites for the Summer Games, Brundage told a news conference he hopes the IOC will back him in substituting the neutral Olympic flag and a trumpet fanfare for the national flag-raising and anthem-playings during medal-winning ceremonies.

During opening and closing ceremonies the athletes should march behind massed national flags rather than each behind his own country's Brundage sad.

"National flags should be used only for ornamental purposes around the stadium," he said.

田川光子の記（三四）

「何になさいます？」

「今度はオン・ザ・ロックにしますわ」

「ボーイさん。僕はダブルだ。……奥さん、お美しくていらっしゃる。ご自分で職業をおもちですね、それも派手向な……」

「あら、よく分りますわね。いろんな女友達とおつき合いになっていらっしゃいますのね……」

「ウソは申しません。僕は理屈なしにご婦人が好きなんです。……私の見るところでは、奥さんはメーキャップをもっとあっさりなさった方が引き立つと思いますね……」

「私、夫が外国に出張してから一年半にもなるんですが、どういうわけかしだいに濃いメーキャップをするようになりまして……」

「率直に言って、欲求不満の至すところでしような」

男の話し方には、ほんとすぎることを言って相手を不快にさせない、慣れというか度胸というか、それがある。でも、私がそれに押されたというわけではない

「貴方のお仕事は――？」

「あててごらんなさい」

「画廊ブローカーだと思います」

に、口にしていた葉巻を危うく落しそうになった。

「驚きましたなあ。ピタリです。もっと正確に言うと三流どころのブローカーでしょうね。ストリッパーや色のあせた唄い手たちをあちこちに動かしている。……ところで奥さんのお仕事は――？」

「ノウ・コメント。……ともかく私は夫と長く別居生活をしている女やもめですわ」

「ノウ・コメントか。……そういう用心は大切です。私のような悪質プレーボーイに素性が知れると、しつこく追いまわされる恐れがありますからね」

「そういう女の方たちはどうなりますの」

「旦那に気づかれて離婚されたり……こっちが鼻について、不自由にしている友だちにゆずったり……相手が娘だったらキャバレーあたりで荒稼ぎさせてともになってみたり……。ロクな事がありませんね。世間ではそんな時、男だけを悪者にしますが、しかし公平なところ、半分は女の人にも責任がありますね」

「責任があります。男に四分、女に六分――」

「スッキリしたことを言いますね。僕も一人でボンヤりしてるとき、女の方がよえたりするんですが、世間に通用しないことだし、男だけが悪いという意見を「へえ、そうかね」と受け流しているんですがね」

私たちはウィスキーを飲みながらそんな事を話し合った。聲は低いがある氣合いがこもっていた。それに男のキラリと光る目、こい口ひげ、廣い肩、厚い胸がしだいに私の「女」に浸透して來た。

「どうです、奥さん。どこかしずかなホテルへでも行ってゆっくり休もうじゃありませんか」

「お伴しますわ。ちょっと……」

私はまた洗面所に入ってハンドバックに入っていた名刺をみんな破いて棄てた。さっきといい、今度といい、洗面所での工作は、私の場合ほとんど考えずに行われたのである。

男はタクシーを呼びとめ、私たちはそれに乗った。私の感じでは五分間も走ったかと思われるあたりで車がとまり、私たちは腕を組んで小ざっぱりした見かけのつれこみホテルに入った。通されたのは、ベッド・ルームとの間をカーテンで仕切った小さな居間だった。挨拶がわりにお茶がでたが、私たちはそれには手もふれず、ベッド・ルームに入った。調度品は見たところ清潔だった。

「すぐ休みましょうね」

と向き合って、服を一つずつ脱ぎ、脱ぎしだい小さくたたんで、傍の椅子の上に重ねておいた。向き合って衣服を脱ぐ……これは俊五と私との間の寝室の慣習であったのだが、ひげの男は、目の前でむき出されていく私の裸身に魅されたのか、具合わるそうに横を向いてズボンを脱いだりした。そして、私に押され氣味な自分に腹を立てたのか、男は勢いをつけて私の方に向き直り、

「おい、奥さん。いや、おねえちゃん……。おれあ貴女がズブの素人で、夫の留守を守るおとなしい奥さんだと思いこんで恥をかいたよ。お前さん、プロじゃねえかよ。それもベテランだな。……事をたしかめる前にたしかめておくが、二時間ほどで、お前さんとこの乗車賃はいくらだよ。それをハッキリさせておこうよ」

男はやくざ口調で言った私は裸身で彼に近づき、返事の代りに思いきり彼の頬ぺたをひっぱたいた。それからベッドの横のカーテンをひき、四角な窓をいっぱいにあけ放した。屋根裏つづきの家は小料理屋で、室をかくす低い囲いが打ちつけてあり、客の話聲も聞えた。星が出ていたと思う。

新施設をぶちこわし検擧さる

【モントリオール】當市内のサー・ジョージ・ウイリアムス大學生の黒人學生百五十名が十日午前、同校九階にある新コンピューター・センターを占領、六時間にわたって同センター内のあらゆる施設や書類に火をつけ、水びたしの床に投げつけてこわし、沿道にあった警察車に火をつけて氣勢をあげた。

それを機に警官隊が行動し、九十七名の學生を檢擧した。コンピューター・センターの損害は二百万ドル以上と見積られており、同センター主事は『全面的な損害で、少くとも八ヶ月かからないと元通りになるまい』といっている。

センターを占據した學生團は學生の記録や試験結果を示した書類などをファイルから引っぱり出し九階の窓から地上にばらまいた。その結果今春の卒業に大きな支障がもたらされる入卒業團體の學生組から、この暴動に強い反對の聲があげられている。

勞組反對を押し切り來週から

【オタワ】土曜日の郵便物配達廃止は全加都市々民數百万人に影響する。オタワ郵政省はユニオン側の頑固な反對をしりぞけ、原案通りの土曜デリバリーをいよいよ來週から廃止、週五日間の配達とすることになった。

しかし、國内の小センターは郵便局との特別契約で民間業者がデリバリーするので郵便局の土曜配達は従前通り継續される。地方のルーラル・ルートの配達も無變更。

配達がなく、郵便局ボックスにとりに行く小さい部落では第一種郵便と日刊紙は選り分けされるし、受取り口は土曜日も四時間サービスされる。

メキシコへの旅（上）

在米加納生

メキシコ旅行についての寄書が、時を同じうして二つ届いた。ここには加納師のものだけをまず載せることにした。アイ君からのものは、メキシコシティ方面のことで、遺跡をたずね、歴史も書きそえてあつて可なりの長文でもあるので、こまぎれにして新聞に出せるように書きかえてくれるようにたのんである。何れ読者のお目にかける機会が来るであろう。（梅月）

米国では汽車の旅が漸次不可能となつて、遠方に出かけるには飛行機かバスによる外はない様になつた。それでバスの設備が非常に改善され食事も出来るし寝台のついたのさえある。

コロラド州は一、二月が一番寒いので、この季節にバスに乗つてメキシコのグアイマス市に行つてみた。勿論アリゾナから国境を越えてノガリス市からはメキシコのバスに乗りかえたのであるが、国道は幅はせまいが舗装してあつて運転手もなかなか上手で車内は清潔で感心した。飲料水が悪いためであろう、コカコラまでごちそうしてくれたのである。乗車賃は汽車もバスも一マイル米貨一仙で、とても安いが、汽車に乗つての経験ではメキシコ内の旅 [illegible] であり衛生的である。

グアイマス市は人口五万カリホルニア湾に面する港町で、海岸には亭々とのびたヤシの樹がきれいに生えていて、代表的南国の風景である。一月なのに気温は七〇度に近く時々雨さえ降つた。ここはメキシコの北部であるが、北回帰線にも近く緯度は二八度であるからコロラド州と比べて気候が甚だしく違うのは無理はない。私共のやつかいになつていたモテルの庭には常緑の美しいユカテコ樹が植えてあり、バナナもなつていた。ハイビスカス、きようちくとう、藤の花等が満開だつた。ユカテコ樹はなかなか土地に適しているのであろう、町には沢山あつた。幹のさしわたしが二呎もありそうなのが茂つていた。

ここはなかなかの良港で日本の貨物船がワタを積みに来るし、小麦は印度に輸出している。税関もあるし英国の領事館もある。一日漁船に乗せてもらつて港の内外を見学したが海軍のサンパシもあつて千トン位の海防艦が碇泊し甲板の各所で種々の訓練をしているのを見た。ここは太公望の天国などと宣伝している位よい漁場で米国から沢山の人が釣魚を楽しむためやつて来る。モテルから数マイル北の海浜には米国からのキャンパアと自動車で部落が出来ていた。たいていボートも持つて来ていた。

市町村關係省より

一月一日より市町村關係省に電話してきた大部分の間貸人及び家主はオンタリオ・タキス削減組織について下記三つの点の一つを質問している。

一支拂へを受ける資格があるのかどうか。

一支拂いを受けた金額が正當なものであつたかどうか。

一いかにして又は一定條件下に支拂いが行われたのか否か。

市町村關係者省の特別情報室は一月二日以後　多少減少したがかなり多くの質問をうけてきている。タキス削減支拂いは十二月三十一日が締切りとなつている。

多くの電話による質問は借家人からと家主であり　住宅持ちからはごく少数である。

最初の數日間にうけた質問を打診したところでは　タキス削減の有資格者の九九％はなんらの問題もなくそれを受取つていることが確かになつている。多くの借家人は事實その資格がないものであつた。

州政府は　かなり煩雜性があるにも拘らず　この方式は不動產タキスの負擔を輕減するためには最善と思つている。つまり負擔すぎると考える者にとつて最も打撃であるとするのに對抗する方策なのである。

"實績は小さいが失望でなかった"

憲法會議終りカナダ首相喜ぶ

【オタワ】各州首相及びオタワ政府首脳部の憲法會議(三日間)は十二日閉会したが、ツルドー首相は『失望に終つた領域はなかつた』と会議が有意義であつたことを喜びとしている。十州首相は再び六月ごろオタワで會合をもつことになつている。

憲法会議では言語權問題を憲法化するオタワ側の提案も、一部で予想されていた通り、委員會付託となつたが、ツルドー首相は『今回の会議でカナダ憲法が一變されることを期待することは無理である』といつているように、タイムと議論をかけて、オタワ政府側の意図に完全同意を得る忍耐が必要だとしている。

同一な氣持

國家存亡とか重大危機といわれた憲法会議は各州首相が身勝手な主張を行つたとはいえ、閉會直後『我々はまだ國を持つている』とその結果を許しカナ州代理首相の言葉を、各州首相およびオタワ政府側は無條件でうなづいていたといわれた。

昔の贈物事件やり合う

カッドの返しに食えぬ小麦を

【オタワ】カナダ各地域における貧窮の差について、東部沿海三州の首相は、その不公平なカナダの富の分配は一日も早く是正されねばならないと強く訴えたが、その貧乏州である三州も一九三〇年の不況時代には、十貨車にぎっしりカッド魚を詰め込んで、サスカチュワン州民に贈物したことを忘れないでほしいと皮肉つた。

これに對して 州代理首相のスチュワード氏は『そのご恩は決して忘れていない。貨車詰めのカッドは途中三日間で煮えあがり、我々はこれを全部すてて、水ばかり飲んで我慢した』ことも忘れていないと答えた。そしてお礼代りに、水びたしとなつていた小麦二十貨車を沿海州に送る用意ができているとやり返した。

沿海州代表者は『その昔話しは再び持ち出さないようにする』と約束した。

技術者の差別

【オタワ】アンドリュー・トムソン下議(自由)は今週、上院科學政策委員會で、カナダに移住した醫学、エンジニア、その他技術者を、カナダの専門職業團体が加入を差別していることをあげ、かかる不公平を一掃すべきだと訴えた。

二つの中國取らず

シャープ外相が議會で答辯

【オタワ】シャープ外相は議會での質問に對して『カナダは二つの中國を認めることは賢明でないと考える』と答弁した。シャープ外相は、中共を承認すれば、やむなく台灣政府との國交を断絶する他ないとの見解を、今までになくハッキリ認めたものとして注目されている。

シャープ外相は台灣政府は中國全土の支配權を持つていると主張しているのだから、中共を承認することによつて 台灣とカナダの關係に影響がもたらされようと説明した。

【ワシントン】米國政府筋は、カナダが中共を承認することになり、それにフンガイして台灣政府がカナダと手を切るようなことをしないで、なんらかの形式でカナダとの國交をつづけていくべきであると述べている。

Legend of O-kichi Still Lives On In Japan

By STAN DELAPLANE

SHIMODA. — At the end of the Izu Peninsula in a grove beside the sea is where U.S.'s first diplomat to Japan, Townsend Harris met up with O-Kichi, the lovely fortune cookie.

They are shown life-size in wax in the temple where he lived. He appears a proper Bostonian, mutton chop whiskers still bristling with indignation at mixed bathing. O-Kichi stands besides him, sad and sorrowful.

It is one of Japan's legends. The lovely geisha sacrificed to the first man in vegetarian Japan to slaughter a cow and eat it. (It caused a stir as if a Red Chinese Ambassador came to Washington and began to eat people).

It's an hour drive along the sea. An unpaved bumpy road. Little fishing villages where Japanese women dive for seaweed. Shimoda town is famed for its sex museum and interesting exhibit of ingenuity in the days of the samurai.

There's a monument to the slaughtered beef, too. Put up by the butchers of Tokyo who owe their jobs to Harris-san's appetite.

The legend says O-Kichi fell in love with Harris-san. (Another version is that Harris san employed her as a scrub lady and threw her out when she suggested she scrub him. Somebody's always knocking the story).

Stay at seaside Atami, a swinging town where everybody stays in the hot bathtub. I stay at the Kinukaku, whose name translates Rising Clouds Mansion. The owner is Mrs. Brilliant Moonlight.

And there's one hotel called "The Sexy Tourist Villa." I must try that sometime.

"What can we do in Tokyo during two weeks. . . ?"

This is an expensive city. Bring money. A dozen luxury hotels. Some 50,000 nightclubs, cabarets and mama-san bars — and the cash register is as obsolete as the samurai sword. Japanese don't like to handle raw money or talk about it. So your bill is always a surprise. Whatever the management feels like.

How do the Japanese afford it. They don't. All the swingers at the Copacabana and the Astor and the fancy clubs are on expense accounts. Entertaining the customers. The biggest face you can have is to walk out without paying. With a wave of the hand. (They send a hostess over with the bill on the first of the month).

Difficult for the tourist with wife since Japanese don't take their wives to the evening spots. If you do, the bill is apt to stagger you. You're supposed to sit with a hostess at $3 to $5 per hour. And they don't want competition. It's like bringing your paper bag lunch to a restaurant.

The hotels cater to tourist couples. And usually there's one nightclub which will go for this kind of action. (They change, so ask your hotel desk).

"Could we stay in typical Japanese inns?"

You can, the Japanese tourist office has a list of these ryokans. But, they aren't so good in Tokyo. The language barrier for getting taxis is difficult.

The place to stay in Japanese inns is in the country towns. They are better than Western-style hotels. And cheaper. Your meals go with it. Meals are served in your room.

There is no lobby because Japanese like privacy. Your maid serves you, make up your room, [illegible] your bath.

"Do they [illegible] bathing? Or [illegible] private bath?"

They do. But since you are Westerners, they'll probably give [illegible] a private bath. The Japanese bath with spacious room, sunken tub and a picture window of a garden is something you'll wish you could take home with you.

The Gentle Nisei Nurse

By JANET MORRIS

VANCOUVER.—As important as all the equipment in the world is the way of a nurse with sick children, according to Dr. Dennis Vince, head of pediatric cardiology department at V.G.H.

Such a nurse is Kuni Tanii who works with him in the new department at Vancouver General Hospital.

Previously the department dealt with both children and adults but since last year Kuni and another nurse, Moira Muir, have been working with Dr. Vince and his assistant, Dr. B. C. Boulter and dedicating their time and efforts solely to children.

"I more or less always wanted to be a nurse," said Kuni. "I went into hospital for an appendectomy as a child and actually enjoyed it. We also lived near the hospital so the idea of being either a nurse or a technician was there from the start."

She seems to be getting experience at both in her present job.

NEW LAB

The new lab, where the tests are carried out, is pristine and gleams with all the new equipment. It could easily be a frightening place for a young child but the staff has made great efforts to make it more approachable.

Snoopy and Charlie Brown decorate the walls and Donald Duck peers down from the X-ray machine.

"But the children are really fascinated by the equipment," Kuni explained. "Once they come into the lab and see the cameras and the television screens they are quite happy and relaxed."

Of course this does not apply to new-born babies but with older children Kuni always sees them before they come in for their tests.

"We go to their homes and talk both to the children and their parents and answer any questions.

"This means that when they come to the hospital there is at least one face to recognize — one friend — and things don't seem too strange."

THEIR "PICTURE"

All the children have had chest X-rays before they come to the lab and they love seeing their "picture" on the electrocardiograph.

Kuni started off in general nursing and then specialized in pediatrics before coming to the new lab.

"On my first day I was terrified with all those machines so I know how the children feel.

"I haven't much of a brain for electronics but some one from the adult lab was there and she more or less took me under her wing," she explained.

Basically the procedure involves placing the child under anaesthetic and then running a catheter through the arm into the vein. Dye is pumped in and this shows where the trouble is. This may be anything from a hole in the heart to too narrow a passageway between the heart and the lungs.

A filmed recording of this is made from two angles — front and side — which in technical terms is called a cineangiocardiogram — a word they don't spell out for the young patients.

Before she started nurse's training at VGH, Kuni took a year off to travel and has seen much of the world.

"But now I prefer to stay here," she said. "Canada is my home and I have no real ambition to go anywhere else at the moment."

She is obviously enjoying her involvement with children.

Generally a child will spend two to three days in hospital after the test and Kuni tries to visit them in the ward.

MOST IMPORTANT

The most important thing, she thinks, is that there is no rush. The child never goes straight into the lab — unless it is an emergency — but instead spends some time with the nurse looking at pictures before being taken into the actual lab where the tests are performed.

Dr. Boulter explained that the adult unit deals with people who have acquired heart difficulties whereas this unit deals with children who are born with heart complications.

If these are detected early enough then the child has an excellent chance of leading a normal life.

This is where the catheterization operation is so important as it can help detect defects in a child's heart.

But it is equally important that a child should go through the operation without fear and this is where Kuni and her colleagues shine.

They seem to be very successful since no one in the department can remember a case when a child has cried.

Emperor . . .

forces that a Japanese emperor had ever experienced. In addition, His Majesty, being an outstanding scientist, had time and again expressed, in his youth, doubts ("admittedly polite," as Mosley found them) in the divine origins of his family.

None of the Japanese, not to mention prewar Japanese leaders, believed that all emperors had physically sprung from the belly of the Goddess of the Sun. The myth, however, was most convenient for them and had to be sustained to have school children worship and soldiers die for the living divinity.

It was because of this that the U.S. State Department sent an education mission to Japan in 1945 and recommended that all textbooks be rewritten to "recognize mythology for what it is."

Immediately after the Chrysanthemum Curtain rose on the Imperial moats around the palace, the Emperor began showing an increasing interest in public life, from which he and his family had been completely isolated. "The sense of a personality behind the walled moats communicated to the people of Japan," once wrote Frank Gibney, now Tokyo representative of Encyclopedia Britannica, when he was Time correspondent in the Far East.

The Emperor and his wife Empress Nagako took every given chance, to see the nation at first hand. The naive citizens however, still considering them figures of awe, silently kept their heads bent low, bowing until they passed before them in a limousine.

They were used to taking their hats off and standing at attention when a single mention was made of their Imperial House. They had been so educated and were not allowed to see Their Majesties except in portraits.

The white gravel-covered Imperial palace plaza was not such an open public garden as it is now, where young lovers sit on benches in the evening and night. The youngsters of today apparently don't have the slightest idea that on the very same gravel, on the historic August 15, 1945, a big swarm of wartorn people sat or lay crying loud, sharing with the Emperor the deepest sorrow in which Japan accepted the Potsdam Declaration that demanded the Japanese unconditionally surrender.

Such are the youths, who daringly, though not so positively, call for the abolition of the Tenno-sei or the Emperor system.

These young people, in sharp contrast, have considerably greater affection for the Crown Prince and his family. In the recent public poll in question, 21.8 percent of the 15-19 age group, 25.7 percent of the 20-24 section and an even higher 32.5 percent of the 25-29 bracket said they believe their relations with the family "stand on mutual trust and affection."

The Prince has popularly been accepted as a most "courageous" man, who opened up a new phase homeland Japan. in democratic Japan. The sportsmanlike, 25-year-old Akihito had chosen a commoner as his future bride and, on April 10, 1959, married the Christian mission school-educated Miss Michiko Shoda in the traditional Shinto rituals inside the palace compounds.

This had been inconceivable in the autocratic prewar Japan. It also was the first wedding ceremony for persons of Tenno linage ever to be broadcast on a nation-wide radio-television hookup.

Actually, this was one of the most significant cases which saw Japan's tradition melt into the latest form of modernity in history.

By this time, the Imperial House's image had drastically changed. On the occasion of the holding in Tokyo of the Third Asian Games in May 1958, the capacity crowd in the main stands of the stadium looked back direct and stretched themselves on tiptoes to take whatever short glimpse they could of Their Majesties in the royal box.

The Emperor waved and smiled, while the throng turned into a frenzied uproar. This meant he had attained what he should be —the symbol of Japan and its people, as is stated in the Constitution. The monotone and monosyllables with which he had conducted his early interviews with the common folk had already gone, and it was a tone of voice which "sounded more like yours and ours" that was there.

The case was much more so when he declared open the Games of the 18th Olympiad in Tokyo in October 1964. Their Majesties were joined by the Crown Princess and Princess Hanako, the daughter of a former count, who had become the bride of the Emperor's second son within a month before.

To the "newest" grownup Japanese, however, Japan's Emperor system is too difficult to understand. A Guam high school-educated son of a Bonin islander of Japanese parentage didn't know what it was all about. He is one of the 180-odd islanders who gained Japanese citizenship upon the return to Japan in June 1968 of the Bonins, held under direct American rule since the end of the war.

When told the Emperor is the symbol of Japan, the boy asked if he then is like the flag of Hinomaru or the Rising Sun. Other young Bonin islanders, upon their return home from a trip to Tokyo, reported the Emperor's residence circled by the moats is "amazingly huge and about the size of Chichijima," the largest of the Bonin islands.

Chichijima, approximately 40 square miles, is over twice as large as Tokyo's Chiyoda Ward, in which the Imperial palace constitutes only one part. The Bonins being about 530 miles south of Tokyo, the distance literally represents the difference of sentiments toward the Imperial Family in the islands and homeland Japan.

Judge . . .

mit suicide last Sept. 1.

"This information was brought to the attention of the Attorney-General shortly thereafter," the judge stated. "The allegation was not resurrected until the complaint of the policewoman was made to the Attorney-General. This allegation is also false and I denied it from the beginning."

Judge Kurata, a well-known county figure about the old City Hall in his belted leather coat and leather hat, said he was relieved of his courtroom duties in the latter part of last November.

"I have pleaded with the Attorney-General for the opportunity to defend myself in a court of law," Judge Kurata stated. "A judge in a public inquiry has no power to protect or acquit me.

"I agree strongly that I have the right of any citizen to have these allegations disposed of against me in the usual way, and I plead with Attorney-General to enable me to have this done.

"Poli Grip" Ungripped By Japan Government

TOKYO. — Because it contains elements that can cause cancer, according to the Tokyo Metropolitan Government's health bureau, the U.S.-manufactured product "Poli-Grip" has been ordered removed from the Japanese market by the government bureau.

The fixing agent for artificial teeth contains Rhodamine B, a tar pigment, which is prohibited by a Japanese pharmaceutical law.

The health bureau has asked the Ministry of Health and Welfare to inflict penalties on importers and dealers of "Poli-Grip" in Japan.
